Wainwright Enjoys Glorious 1st

Ball Tournament Provide Full Day's Thrill

Throngs Listen to Mayor's Speech on Patriotism

Big Dance Proved Fitting Wind-Up

Worried somewhat as to the ultimate outcome of a very threatening looking morning and intermittent showers, the chairman of the Dominion Day Sports committee and his committee men spent a few of the very early hours of Wednesday last in worry and doubt; but their decision to go ahead with the day's doings despite the lowering clouds proved well chosen for the day finally turned out to be one of the regular picnic variety, and the crowds who wended their way to town for the big doings were well repaid.

Starting at Fifth and Main, the long parade headed by the boys of the Town Band, and under the care of Committee man Charlie Rasmussen, a splendid showing, the hundreds of kiddies with their patriotic uniforms, the crowd surrounded the platform and joined heartily to the singing of the patriotic numbers led by the band.

In his address of the day Mayor Middlemas said:

"For the second time as Mayor of Wainwright, I have the honor and privilege of addressing you, while gathered together to celebrate Dominion Day.

Last year we spoke briefly on the vastness of our great Dominion of Canada. We are justly proud of it. Still while speaking of the vast territory which stretches from coast to coast, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, we often have thinking or spending in territorial great, we forget perhaps the real greatness of our country, that of having a Dominion Charter and belonging to the greatest and most powerful and respected commonwealth of nations the world has ever known or seen.

Being therefore a great nation we are also united to a great kingdom. Many and many are the symbols of unity but I think it would be well on this Dominion Day of 1936 to stress particularly that symbol of unity—the flag. All through history we have read of love for, and devotion and loyalty to the flag, to the colors of a country or regiment. It is the symbol of both unity and freedom. Our children in the schools have read of the heroic and noble deeds performed in honor of the flag. Explorers consider it a great and magnificent deed to plant the flag of their country on any newly discovered territory. In actual value the flag does not mean or cost much—it is what it stands for and represents that matters. It is because of this that soldiers are willing to forfeit their lives rather than let their flag fall into the hands of the enemy. All is well and encouraging when the troops see their flag flying—it is a sign that the army is united. In fact, the British flag is called the "Union Jack" for as you know, it is a combination of flags, but now united into one as are the nations it represents. We ourselves cannot help but feel glad today when we walk down the streets of this great town of Wainwright, thousands of miles from the actual scene of this unity, yet we see floating gladly and triumphantly in the breeze that same Union Jack—as we have said before, that symbol of unity and at the same time that symbol of freedom—an actual freedom which is not possessed in any other country in such a high degree—a freedom which really is in the fullest sense of the word "freedom."

Our children, those little persons of today on which the Empire of tomorrow depends, love the flag. It is as if they were innate love of sense of duty. They are proud of it, especially as they carry it aloft in parades, or even playing soldiers. And on special occasions in colleges, schools or cadet corps, the one who carries the large flag at the beginning of the parade is the envy of all his fellows. This is but natural and in the ordinary course of events it is a better and happier place in which to love their flag and country. It represents and would bend every effort not only to keep alive the old ideals but to improve and develop them and thus by the natural evolution of time make their country a still better and happier place in which to live. For time, as you all know, passes rapidly and that old saying "Tempus fugit" is very true indeed and before we know it these children of whom we now speak will soon, in a few years indeed be taking an active part in the civic affairs of the country.

We said a few moments ago, ladies and gentlemen, that in the ordinary course of events these children would grow up loving their flag and the country it represents. This is quite true, if the ordinary course of events were not tampered with. This is the unfortunate part of the situation. The natural and ordinary course of events is tampered with in such a way as is hardly perceptible until it is too late. They work and learn at work, yet even in the very schools that strive to take away from the child this natural heritage, this respect for the flag, and then it is only a short step until even their self respect does not mean a thing. These are not mere words and ladies and gentlemen, if I did not know positively that this sort of work was going on, then I would not waste my time or yours by even mentioning it this afternoon. But there is a menace, call it communism, or any other name, the fact is it exists and the sole purpose is to spread disloyalty, discontent, selfishness and greed, and the mystery is that it offers nothing in return. Of course, we do not see this openly all the time and we are shocked when at times we hear from the children some remark that they have brought home from school, some remark that is unmistakably from the mouth and mind of a communist—and we are not speaking now only of the small town schools, but this sort of thing has even found itself inside the walls of great universities. It is like some treacherous monster a giant octopus, one of the most loathsome of creatures, which stretches its eight long tentacles out and winds them around the body of its victim and sucks the very life blood out of it. This is the only example, ladies and gentlemen, that I can think of which illustrates the insidious workings of these false teachers, only worse than the octopus, these men work in an unobtrusive manner, they are unobserved and do not show their true colors at the start, but like a malignant cancer, they may be working and eating away and corrupting under the surface and do not let themselves be

Dry Weather Causes Set-back to Crops

ALBERTA CROP REPORT No. 5
(From the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton)

During the past two weeks, all dry land crops in the southern and east central areas have suffered a serious set-back at a critical period because of prevailing hot weather and high winds, little rain having fallen to relieve these distressed conditions. This is especially true of the territory from Medicine Hat north-west to Brooks and continuing north to the Youngstown district, where hopes for even a fair crop are practically abandoned. In the more seriously affected districts, a shortage of feed is already anticipated. The whole of the south and east is badly in need of moisture. This applies particularly to stubbled in crops, pasture and range land.

In the west, central area, and the Edmonton zone, some severe thunder storms and scattered showers have occurred, but these have only been a good reserve of subsoil moisture. There are still a good reserve of subsoil moisture, but many districts would welcome good rains for surface needs. If weather continues dry, maturity of grain crops will be unduly hastened with some consequent reduction in yields.

The most favourable conditions obtain in the Peace River district where good showers have been more general and development of all crops has continued normally. Prospects in this area point toward an earlier harvest by at least one week than in 1935.

WEDDING BELLS

BOYER-TREFAIK
Early on Wednesday morning July 1st, the United church paragon was the scene of a quiet little wedding. Rev. T. E. Armstrong, the pastor, united in holy matrimony Miss Maria Trefaik of Hope Valley to Mr. Albert Boyer, the witness being Miss Annie Trefaik and Mr. Stan Taylor.

After a short honeymoon, the happy couple will reside on the groom's farm in the Hope Valley district.

MORCOM-SMITH

At the home of the bride's parents at Metiskow, on July 4th the Rev. T. E. Armstrong, pastor of the Wainwright United church solemnized the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Smith to Mr. Douglas A. Morcom, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Morcom, of Greenfields.

A number of the immediate relatives of the happy couple were present at the ceremony. They will reside on the farm at Greenfields after a short honeymoon.

FORMER GREENSHIELDS GIRL MARRIES IN CITY

Petal-shaded gowns were lovely at the summer wedding of Miss Janette Chri (formerly of Greenfields) and her attendant, when she became the bride of Mr. David L. Bunnin, of Edmonton, at a pretty ceremony arranged in the garden of her mother's home on Saturday, June 27th.

Brigadier Habkirk of Calgary read the marriage lines and Miss Lillian Black attended Miss Chri as bridesmaid. Mr. W. E. Colville was best man.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Banff.

LOCAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hloka, drove down the city on Dominion Day for a short visit with Mrs. W. Huntington.

As will be seen from our advertising columns this week the Quality Fruit Farms of Chilliwack, B.C., are making a real offer to housewives.

Mr. B. McLean of Edmonton is here to take the "second trip" position at the depot during the holiday period of Mr. J. Talmie.

MR. W. CROWE GIVEN SEND-OFF BY WORK MATES

At a representative gathering of his fellow employees of the C.N.R. at Wainwright, on Tuesday last, Mr. Wm. Crowe was bidden "Good-bye and God speed" on the eve of his retirement from railway service. As a parting gift Mr. Crowe was presented with a handsome club bag and a purse of money.

Mr. Crowe has retired on pension after forty-eight years of railway service, sixteen years of which time has been in the employ of the Canadian National, and a half of that period at Wainwright as assistant locomotive foreman. He left on Wednesday his new home in Vancouver where he will reside in future.

The Mystery of Edwin Drood Showing at Elite

From the unfinished novel of murder, mystery and horror, partly written by Charles Dickens (uncompleted when he died), Universal has woven an attention-grabbing picture, characterized by excellent performance.

It is true that there is rather less mystery than might be supposed, since, although the murderer is not pointed out it becomes obvious to the audience very early in the story who is the guilty one. However, the fact does not spoil the story in the least. The interest lies in the murderer's reactions to approaching doom and his moments of remorse.

The cast is strong, and the performance of Forrester Harvey, the drunken caretaker of the ancient English cathedral, is a high spot in the picture.

Claude Rains, court master in the cathedral, is acutely in love with Heather Angel, who since childhood has been engaged to Rains' nephew and ward, David Manners. Miss Angel is no more in love with Manners than he is with her, although both maintain a pretense for appearance's sake.

To the town comes Montgomery and his sister from India, and Miss Angel and he find immediate mutual attraction. However, his quick temper gets him into trouble with Manners and after an evening spent at the home of Rains, in an effort to straighten out the trouble, Manners disappears and Montgomery is accused of murder.

"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" is a picture that will hold your attention from start to finish. See it at the theatre this week-end. July 9-10-11.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Moulder and family of Hardisty were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hausfeld.

Phil Stuart had a big day running round the bases. He scored both runs in the first game and helped himself to a couple more in the final. The game went along with three up and three down until the fourth inning when Phil Stuart worked a walk out of Yonke and scored on a couple of singles by Donnelly and Slump. They increased their lead to two in the sixth inning when Phil made his second trip round after getting a one single. Jarow scored their only run in their turn to bat in the sixth. H. Luken scored a walk and Phil on an error, which ended the scoring for the game.

In all it was a first-class game to watch only two errors being made, these being evenly divided between the teams.

Shower is Staged For Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Hazel Wiley, a bride-elect of next week, a bridal shower was held at the home of Mr. D. W. Davison, on Friday last for which Mrs. R. H. Ott made the arrangements.

The evening was spent by a large number of friends of the honor guest in games and contests. Mrs. H. Bruner being the winner of "The enigmatical menu."

Dressed as a miniature bride, little Jean Reeves wheeled in the gifts to the bride in her doll carriage, from which the presentations were made.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess, she being aided by Mrs. Davison, Mrs. E. Gehring and Mrs. Reeves, and at the close of the pleasant evening all tendered to Miss Wiley their best wishes for future happiness in her new sphere.

Among the visitors to town over the week-end were Messrs. W. Mason, M.L.A. of Irma, and Fred Harrington, G. Barnes and S. C. Heckbert of Vermilion.

Mr. Fred Perkins has purchased another Chrysler product this week, the delivery of a splendid Dodge sedan from the Brunner service station.

Miss G. Dornan of Sedgewick was a visitor at the McBride home for a few days last week.

IRMA WINS 1st MONEY IN BASEBALL TOURNEY

In a three team senior baseball tourney in which Irma, Wainwright, and Jarow were entered, the best ball of the season was witnessed by the fans on Wednesday afternoon last in connection with Wainwright sports day. After the game was made Irma were the lucky boys to step into the final without playing a game, which no doubt added to their reserve strength in the final game.

Paul Sportitz Pitches Two Great Games

Paul Sportitz, the local ace chucker, pulled the iron-man shut by working on the mound in both games and we might say turned in two splendid performances, the last game going 10 innings.

Mr. Nelson, who is now making his new home in Wainwright, made his debut in Wainwright baseball, and proved to the fans he knew what it was all about, flanking his position well and doing his share of the work with the stick. Sam Slump, who may be a newcomer on the baseball field to some, turned in his best performance here to date, fielding and hitting along with the best of them.

Wainwright 2 - Jarow 1

The first game saw Wainwright and a team made up from the Jarow district oppose each other in which Wainwright edged out a close victory by 2-1 score. Paul and Ches Sportitz made up the battery for Irma. Paul hit fifteen batters down out of the 21 that opposed him with three swings and a drink of water, which is good pitching in anybody's game. He allowed two hits and walked one man. Vorse and Erickson formed the battery for Jarow, Vorse getting 8 strikeouts, allowed 8 scattered hits, and walked one man.

Phil Does All the Scoring

Phil Stuart had a big day running round the bases. He scored both runs in the first game and helped himself to a couple more in the final. The game went along with three up and three down until the fourth inning when Phil Stuart worked a walk out of Yonke and scored on a couple of singles by Donnelly and Slump. They increased their lead to two in the sixth inning when Phil made his second trip round after getting a one single. Jarow scored their only run in their turn to bat in the sixth. H. Luken scored a walk and Phil on an error, which ended the scoring for the game.

In all it was a first-class game to watch only two errors being made, these being evenly divided between the teams.

FINAL GAME

Wainwright 7 - Irma 8

In the final game which took ten innings to decide the winners, Irma noosed out a one-run decision over the Wainwright Club. Paul and Ches again went to work on the Irma boys and even though this was Paul's second game at seventeen batters down by the strike-out route, Ralph Luken did the pitching for the Irma boys and got 10 strikeouts in his credit.

Chester Sportitz scored in the first inning for Wainwright from third on a nice bunt laid down by Nelson. Irma evened the count in the third inning. Prosser received a free pass to first and scored on a single by B. Luken. Wainwright took command of the game again in their turn at the bat in the third. Sam Slump got a single and was advanced to third on Phil Stuart's 2-base hit. Sam scored on an overthrow at second and Phil scored on a fly ball to the field. Ches gave Wainwright a 3-run lead in the fourth when he got a single and made the circuit. Irma came within one of tying up the count in the seventh inning. B. Luken scored in the sixth directly due to two errors and Prosser scored in the seventh. He got a 3-base hit, the longest hit of the day and came in on F. Luken's single to centre field.

Two nice hits coupled with an error at short netted Wainwright three runs in the seventh inning giving them a 7-6 lead, which looks very encouraging at the time. Sam Slump got a nice single and Phil Stuart drove one past the short stop, which let Sam go to third and Phil to second; both scored on Nelson's single. Nelson scored on a passed ball at the plate.

The eighth inning saw Irma go on a scoring spree and they didn't pull up until three runs had crossed the plate, making the score read 7-6. They went on to tie up the game in the ninth inning. L. Larson getting on base through an error and scored on Smallwood's 2-base hit.

An extra inning was necessary to decide the winner, in which Irma scored the winning run.

Bill Sportitz handled both games in a very efficient manner.

11 TEAMS ENTER GIRLS' SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

The Girls' Softball Tournament, which is becoming more popular every year, on off without a hitch under the management of Dr. E. V. Springbett, with no less than eleven teams entered. Those entered in the tournament were: Strawberry Plains, Grandgould, Irma, Greenfields, Battle Rose, Gilt, Edg, Wainwright, Ribstone, Chauvin, Rosyth, and Edgerton.

Rosyth and Irma went through the elimination games without a loss and met in the final, in which Rosyth took the measure of the Irma girls 14-4.

In the first draw Grandgould defeated Strawberry Plains 8-6; Irma defeated Greenfields 23-10; Battle Rose defeated Gilt Edg 16-1; Ribstone defeated Wainwright 18-5; Rosyth defeated Chauvin 12-3. Edgerton drew a bye into the second round.

In the second draw Irma defeated Grandgould 9-8; Ribstone defeated Battle Rose 12-7; and Rosyth defeated Edgerton 25-3.

In the third draw Irma defeated Ribstone 22-5 and Rosyth drew a bye.

In the final game Rosyth defeated the Irma girls 14-4.

TRAFALGAR WINS INTER-MEDIATE TOURNAMENT

The intermediate tournament, in which four teams were entered, Wainwright Juniors, Auburndale, Trafalgar, and Gooseberry Lake, was won by Trafalgar; they defeating Gooseberry Lake in the first game and Auburndale in the second.

The first game was between Trafalgar and Gooseberry Lake. Trafalgar winning by a close score of 6-7. The battery for Trafalgar was Dan Taylor pitching and G. Murray catching; and for Gooseberry Lake, L. Nelson, pitcher and W. Bunnay, catcher.

The second games saw the local juniors go down to defeat in a close, by rough game by the score of 9-8. Trafalgar and Auburndale tied in the final game with Trafalgar edging out 6-8. The battery for Trafalgar was Runge, pitching and G. Murray, catching; for Auburndale, R. Arthur, pitching and Ivan Mc. Grim catching.

Henry Schiltz handled the intermediate ball games.

Rev. Bennett Ordained into Baptist Church

At an impressive ceremony in Norwood Baptist church, Edmonton, on Thursday evening Rev. Frederick Bennett was ordained into the Baptist ministry. Mr. Bennett, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett, left for Wainwright, where Mr. Bennett is now in charge of the Baptist church.

During the afternoon the Ordinal Council sat for the purpose of hearing an account of the candidate's conversion, call and doctrinal beliefs.

Rev. G. R. Dawe, of Calgary, chairman of the Regular Baptist Fellowship, gave the Charge to the church, at the evening's ceremony. The charge to the candidate was given by Rev. Morley R. Hall, of Calgary, and the ordination prayer was delivered by Rev. J. H. Pick, of Crossfield. Moderator of the Ordination Council.

Rev. G. R. Dawe gave the right hand of fellowship to the newly ordained member as he was proclaimed a minister of the Baptist church. The ordination sermon was delivered by Rev. H. C. Phillips, pastor of the Norwood Regular Baptist church.

After an unbroken period of thirteen years as janitor at the Bank of Montreal, Mr. Callas, sr., has been retired owing to the age limit.

Miss D. Crocker returned Monday to her home in Hardisty.

are a guide to values . . .

Experts can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch -- knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

Whose Servant are You?

(By Judge Rutherford)
Jehovah is the only true God. Satan the Devil, is the mimic god, the wicked one, and man's worst enemy. Every person serves either Jehovah or the Devil. The following words are written in the Bible, which is God's Word of truth, to wit (Romans 8: 18): "Know ye not that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are, to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?" Each person must determine whom he desires to serve, either God or the Devil, and the Bible declares that he who knowingly serves Satan shall die, and those who gladly serve Jehovah shall live forever in happiness.

A few pointed examples will help you to understand who serves Jehovah and who serves the Devil. The National Broadcasting Company, and the Columbia Broadcasting System, together with other selfish men, have undertaken to say that only certain clergymen, whom they approve, shall be permitted to use their radio facilities to preach to the people, and that they must preach nothing that is not approved by them. Those same men attempt to control the politics of the country and engage in many commercial and political schemes, which oppress the people. They could not be serving Jehovah, but must be serving the Devil, because it is the expressed will of God that all men shall have the privilege of knowing what is in the Bible and freely telling others about it.

The German government under Hitler denounces and persecutes all persons who openly declare that they believe and serve Jehovah God. Moses was a Hebrew, or Israelite, and one of God's inspired prophets who wrote much of the Bible. The Bible declares that he who would raise up a Greater One of whom Moses was a type, and that such Greater One would be the Messiah and become the world's rightful ruler and Jehovah's Executive Officer. Many other Bible texts prove that Jesus Christ is that Greater One, the Messiah. The Hitler government denounces, persecutes and expels from that land Israelites or natural descendants of Abraham, confiscates their property, and denounces Jehovah God and his Word. The Hitler government has undertaken to say that only its state church and the Roman Catholic organization shall freely practice their religion in Germany and that all others in that land must comply with such fixed rules or else be severely punished. Pharaoh of Egypt likewise ill-treated Jehovah's chosen people, and the Scriptures declare that Pharaoh was the special representative of the Devil. The Hitler government is in the same class with Pharaoh, and is certain to meet with the same fate at the hand of Jehovah.

For years in Germany there have been many earnest Christian people known as Bible Students or Jehovah's witnesses who have been going about teaching the people the Bible and bringing comfort to those who are in distress. They have spent millions in that land to help the German people, and now in these times of great world distress those faithful Christian people are likewise persecuted, arrested, driven through the streets under the lash of whips, thrown into prison, and some of them killed, merely because such people honestly serve Jehovah God and his King and tell the people about his Kingdom under Christ, that will bless all the world. It is certain that the Hitler government is not doing this by the will of Jehovah; therefore all must determine that it serves Satan.

At a great assembly of Christian people held at Los Angeles on the 25th day of March, 1934, the following Protest was unanimously adopted and was at the same time broadcast over a coast-to-coast network of radio stations, which Protest is in these words, to wit:

"For many years Jehovah's witnesses in Germany, untiringly working under the Watch Tower Bible & Tract Society, have engaged in bearing testimony to the name and kingdom of Jehovah God. During the past year the German government or excuse has wronged, without cause, fully seized confiscated, and destroyed the Bibles, song books, furniture and other property of these faithful Christians, prohibited them to meet together and worship God according to his commandments, and has cruelly persecuted and imprisoned many of them, and, like Pharaoh of old, that government has wickedly opposed Jehovah and defamed his name.

"Therefore we their brethren, as followers of Christ, Jesus and servants of Jehovah, do earnestly and vigorously protest against such unwarranted treatment of Christians by the German ruling power, and we call upon all true Christians and all fair-minded people throughout the earth, whether Jews or Gentiles, join in this vigorous protest, and demand that Jehovah's witnesses shall without let or hindrance on the part of the German government or others be permitted to go on in their worship and service of Jehovah God in the manner which he has commanded, and we register our protest by declaring against Satan and all such oppression, and by taking our stand on the side of Jehovah and his kingdom and his people."

(The day is drawing near when Satan and all who serve him shall be destroyed by Christ at the command of Jehovah. Information and warning is now brought to the people that they may determine whom they wish to serve. All may take the Bible and the facts which are well known and determine thereby what is the proper course to pursue. All persons, therefore, who desire to see righteousness prevail and who wish to live in peace and happiness forever must take their stand firmly on the side of Jehovah God and his kingdom.)

In order for anyone to become the servant of God, he does not need to join some organization, but the proper way is for each person to consecrate himself to Jehovah, thereby agreeing to serve God and his Kingdom. Having taken such step, then you should study the Bible and the Bible which is provided for the understanding of the Scriptures. In this manner you become teachable and learn the right way to go. Then you should do what is right unto all persons; which means to learn righteousness. In harmony with Jehovah's prophet, servant, and his words now apply to the people of good will on earth, which words are, to wit: "Before the wrath of God come upon the wicked world seek meekness and seek righteousness and it may be that you shall be rid and protected in the day of great trouble." There is only one place of safety, and that is on the side of Jehovah God. Let all persons be free to believe what they will, but if you desire to live and be happy, put yourself on the side of Jehovah God and his kingdom, become his servant and serve him faithfully and truly. Do not follow the teachings of men, but follow the teachings of God's word of truth as set forth in the Bible.

WORLD PRODUCING MUCH LESS BARLEY

The world's area under barley has declined irregularly since 1920, but in the British Empire the reduction has been slightly more steady and more pronounced, states the Imperial Economic Committee's report on Grain Crops (1928-35). Though India and the British Isles have contributed materially to this decline, the reduction of the Canadian acreage is chiefly responsible for the change in the Empire total.

As in the case of wheat, barley production in Russia has surpassed that of the United States in the past few years, the United States falling from the first place as largest barley exporter in the world in 1928 to seventh place in 1935. In that year, in order of world's barley exporters, Russia, Argentina, Poland, Morocco, Roumania and Canada surpassed the United States. Although India since 1930 has been consistently the largest barley producer in the British Empire, Canada is normally by far the most important Empire exporting country.

Canada is the largest exporter of barley in the British Empire but her exports to Britain are irregular. Generally, the Canadian exports of barley to Britain are surpassed by two countries outside the Empire, namely the United States and Russia. The latter country has become the chief source of barley supplies to the British market since re-entering the trade in 1930. Australia and Argentina have been shipping barley to Britain in increased quantities. Total imports of barley to the British market in 1935 were larger than in any other year since 1928. The provisional estimate for 1935 shows that Canada exported 116,000 tons of barley to the British market; Russia sent 311,000 tons and the United States 119,000 tons. According to a preliminary estimate as at May 1, 1936, it was intended to plant 4,055,309 acres to barley in Canada this year as against 3,886,800 acres in 1935.

SHEEP ON THE PRAIRIE FARM

It is well known that sheep are adapted to semi-arid conditions and that they will live on short, dry pasture where cattle will lose weight. In view of this fact, it would seem that in the drier sections of the prairie a few sheep could profitably replace some of the cattle. Sheep will also do well in districts where rain is plentiful, provided they are kept continuously on lush, green damp ground. They eat many weeds, fatten readily on mixtures of low grade whole grain and weed seeds, and need not grow after passing through a sheep, advantages which cattle or hogs do not possess. One cow eats approximately as much as a half dozen sheep.

The lamb crop is the chief source of revenue, the wool clip usually taking care of the overhead. The lambs are born in the spring and sold in the fall, only the breeding stock being carried through the winter. At the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Sask., lambs that have had a good start in the spring and fairly good pasture in summer have fattened off economically in the fall on rape pasture without grain. Lambs fed grain while on rape pasture made very little extra gain and a third lot of lambs on a full grain ration in a dry lot made considerably lower gains. No serious trouble was experienced with bloating but care was taken during the first few days to keep the lambs off the rape when it was wet with dew or rain. Rape for this purpose may either be seeded in rows wide enough apart to cultivate between or in narrow rows with the regular grain drill seeder. But in either case the plants may well be from four to six inches apart. Rape may be seeded with oats if desired. There is less loss from tramping of the crop if there is room for the sheep to walk between the rows.

On the average farm a portion of the summer-fallow land may be seeded to rape and utilized for the entire flock of sheep when the regular pasture becomes dry and short or the rape may be retained for the lambs at weaning time. A light frost will not damage the rape when well developed but the young plants are "frost tender".

Although there is no important export market for dressed lamb, the prices on the hoof at stock yards have been consistently higher than cattle prices. To obtain the highest price it is necessary to market a well finished lamb of the proper market weights, i.e., around 90 lbs.

Nobody is all bad—none is all good.

CANADA MUST SELL 280 MILLION BUSHELS A YEAR

Many students of Canadian affairs consider that the maintenance of a reasonable standard of living for farmers and, indeed, for all Canada, will require an annual export sale of 280 million bushels of wheat.

Since 1929, the export sales of Canadian wheat have dwindled from 300 million to an amount of only 165 million in 1935.

Prior to 1929 Canadian wheat and flour were sold each year on the markets in over 70 countries in the world and it is probably correct to state that over 300 million people, outside of Canada, ate bread that was improved because it contained some percentage of Canadian wheat.

Today many of those countries use no Canadian wheat at all, and all of them use less Canadian wheat than they did.

Examined from another angle, the situation can be expressed as follows: Between 1929 and '35 the world international trade in wheat has suffered a decline of 31%, but Canada's world trade in wheat has suffered a decline of no less than 46%.

A clear appreciation of just what has occurred should afford some foundation for suggestions to be made to win back some of the markets for Canadian wheat and flour that have been lost during the past few years.

DANGEROUS DISEASE CARRIERS MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

For many years public health efforts have reduced the scourge of typhoid fever and many other dangerous, contagious diseases by government enforced legislation in respect to the inspection of cattle, milk pasteurization, the chemical purification of suspected water supplies, and the elimination of many other known breeding sources of disease. But little has been done officially about the common house-fly. Each summer it infests the land wherever mankind exists. It is born and bred in rotten animal or vegetable matter, lives on filth and refuse. It carries germs of infectious diseases into the home endangering the health of everyone, from the defenceless baby in its crib to the elders of the house who relish the tasty salad upon which a fly may have recently been feasting and spreading disease germs that have accumulated on its hairy legs.

Public spirited citizens should fully realize the seriousness of this menace and take measures to check it. Searching out hidden unsanitary fly breeding places, keeping homes well screened and foods covered at all times are important. But the quickest and simplest method of killing all flies is to place a few saucers of fly pads around the house. They will attract the flies and kill them all in a few hours.

GRAVING, GRAVELLING & HARD SURFACING ROADS

Work is to start immediately in various parts of the province on the extensive road improvement program undertaken by the Provincial Government, utilizing "Prosperity Certificate" to finance the projects.

In three ridings in the south-eastern part of the province, an initial appropriation of $5,000 each has been made to be augmented as the situation demands.

The Provincial Public Works Department, which now has hundreds of men at work on the main highways, soon will be handling thousands, according to the Government's program. Among main projects under way now are improvements to the Jasper highway, Edmonton-Wetaskwin highway and the hard surfacing of the Trans-Canada sections between Calgary and Banff, in addition to work in the southern part of the province.

Provincial operations on hard surfacing on the Calgary-Banff road will be materially assisted by a $40,000 grant from the Dominion Government.

On the Jasper highway, second course graveling of the stretch immediately east of the park boundary is expected to be completed immediately. The department also is carrying on an extensive reconstruction program on parts of the abandoned railway grade west of Styal.

The general activity in road improvements in this province, demonstrating the value which both Tourists from the United States would pour into Alberta if this province had hard-surfaced roads. It has been stated by motor club officials from south of the border, and yet nothing is being done to finish Highway 14 east to the border from Wainwright.

TOT'S PLAY FROCK

Pattern 8729: One of those practical little dress and panties combinations that little sister never seems to have enough of—especially for summer needs, when play and hot weather make greater demands on youthful wardrobes. The dress is simplicity itself. The gathered circular yoke giving well-fitting shoulders and a dainty neckline which conforms well with the very young face contours.

Flaring princess lines plus brief puff sleeves make this truly an adorable frock. Panties have the comfortable French style, waist band, practical and a modern necessity. Dotted swiss, percale, gingham or pique. Anyone of these will lend itself well in the creation of pattern 8729.

The Family DOCTOR

Dr. JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

DROPPED COLON BETTER THAN NONE

A very much alarmed patient came to a great specialist and said: "Doctor, I have a 'dropped colon'; now what's the worst thing that may happen and when may I expect it?" "It has already happened, my dear," said the doctor soberly. "It happened when the foetus told you his diagnosis."

Among my present clientele there are no less than three elderly patients with dropped colons of twenty to thirty years standing. They are neither dying, nor "running into cancer," as the esteemed charlatan would have them believe. The colon has become the veritable gold mine for the medical impostor, who will stave the "cancer" off for you if you tickle his benevolent palm with a sufficiency of cash—in advance.

You may have a dropped colon, "toxic" we call it. Stop worrying. Treat yourself as if you didn't have it. If it causes no discomfort, let it alone. If it annoys you, take gentle laxatives and unload it, always gently. Try mineral oil every day until you get a satisfactory effect. A well-fitting abdominal supporter, not too tight, may help. You want support, not garrotting. See that you maintain a regular diet, avoiding hard fried foods and heavily seeded berries, either in pies, preserves or jams. Seeds are bad for colons and so are skins of baked apples, cherries, plums. Swallow no skins if your colon gives distress.

Sweet milk may clog the lazy canal. If it does, switch to buttermilk. Whatever you do that is right, stick to it. You can't put a dropped colon back in place. Neither can the blatant quack, even if you paid him a hundred or five hundred dollars. And a dropped colon is better that gone. Be sensible.

GONE INTO HISTORY!

Wednesday last, July 1st, Canada passed another milestone in her history as a nation. What a history she has written since that Dominion Day away back in 1867, when the Fathers of Confederation and the Representatives of the British Empire signed the necessary papers to constitute Canada an individual unit in the Great Commonwealth of Nations that now go to make up the far flung British Empire, possibly the greatest nation ever to grow out of self-governing units, and a Commonwealth on whose flag the sun never sets.

It is worthy to note and good to think about the peace that has attended the gradual but solid and substantial growth of our fair Dominion. Security and peace in a much greater degree than exists in many older countries has always been the part of Canada. Since the early days the Law, as represented by the Mounted Police, "the Scarlet Riders of the Plains," has been upheld and respected in a manner and to a degree believed absolutely impossible by many observers. Hundreds of square miles of territory under one detail of police, and yet peace in all its corners, and a swift vengeance on the wrongdoer that has bred respect and reverence for the maintenance of the law and those who administer it. Much could be said in praise of the judiciary of Canada. Few, if any, nations outside of Great Britain herself, have a better record of law enforcement and administration than has our own Dominion. There is no delay in arrests, no red tape in trials, and no political strings pulled in connection with the sentencing of the guilty and the protection of the innocent. Law breakers from other countries have found to their sorrow that it does not pay to monkey with Canadian peace and freedom.

Primarily an agricultural nation, the granaries of Canada have been multiplying steadily, and with them a programme of mixed farming and stock raising that has always tended to stability and contentment. True, we have had and will continue to have our problems. But our nation is young. Those who have finished their work and passed on, have builded better than they knew. On us of today rests a great responsibility in maintaining unblemished the heritage that is ours. Canada's is a great future. We may not live to see it, but if we do not, and keep her record as clean as it was handed to us, our children and our children's children will share in the wonderful blessings in natural resources, that a wise Creator has concealed just enough that the greedy and avaricious have been unable to find them. Let us contemplate in pride and thankfulness the peace, security and prosperity that is ours in Canada, and sing with heart and soul.

"O Canada, our home and native land, True patriot love in all thy sons command."

Known until it is too late as far as the poor victim is concerned. This is a thing we have to protect ourselves and our children against, and that is why I personally believe that it is essential to have these various parties and demonstrations in order to keep alive that true spirit of patriotism, co-operation and unity which has stood us so good stead in the past and we can confidently expect, in view of this past experience, spreading over a period of "hundreds of years, that it will not fail us in the future."

Since the last time we celebrated Dominion Day together a sad thing has happened. We have lost our beloved monarch King George V. This event not only shocked the Empire and the Dominion of Canada—but the whole universe. The town sent a message of sympathy to the royal Family and today we can not celebrate with the same joy as would have been possible had his shadow not cast itself upon us. Yet, ladies and gentlemen, even this did not tend to bring about the dissolution of the Empire, but to cement it closer together. In fact, we had not realized how potent that centre of unity was the monarchy. People did not realize what a factor it was in the life of the Dominions. Through out the Dominion of Canada the loss was universally felt. It was hard, nay, well might impossible to realize that such a thing had happened. The King Was Dead! Whether or not we had ever given him a thought before did not matter—but it was only at his death that we realized just how much the king meant to the unity of the Empire and the Dominions. Tokens of sympathy were sent to London from all of the Dominions, and the Dominion of Canada was not lacking in this regard.

As I mentioned, the grief over the death of the King was universal. Perhaps I should have said—almost universal—for there was one discordant note—that of the communists again. Running true to form, and being against lawfully constituted authority, or authority of any kind except their own, they voted against the message of sympathy sent to the Royal Family.

Today the Dominion bows allegiance to a new Sovereign—King Edward VIII, the son and successor of King George. The Dominion in the past has been loyal to the throne. She proved this at the death of the King. She will still be loyal, for a matter of pennance does not mean much. It is under the present system that the Dominion of Canada has made great strides, and there fore I can safely say that we will be just as loyal this year as we have been in the past, loyal to the throne, whether the occupant be named either George or Edward, this does not matter, for once again, the monarchy is the symbol of unity and stability.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, in conclusion, we may have had bad times. The result of the crop last fall was far from cheerful. It is quite possible that we will have hard times in the future, but in view of the past, and taking everything into consideration, we can still face the future with confidence, and after all, on looking around and observing the conditions existing in many of the other nations of the world, even yet we can say in all truth, that we can still be proud that we are citizens of the Dominion of Canada and are living under the British flag—not the red flag, the banner of those insidious, diabolical and cunning forces which I spoke a little while ago.

Following the patriotic speech by the Mayor, and interspersed by the singing of the whole assemblage Rev. T. E. Armstrong, B.A. B.D., and Rev. Father Hugo Doyle both delivered very appropriate addresses for the occasion, before the crowd separated to enjoy the day's proceedings for ball games, races, and so forth.

During the afternoon platform attractions were given by the Albert troupe of gymnasts and acrobats, and at each showing the applause given testified to the popularity of this feature.

The races arranged for the youngsters, too, saw very full entries for each event, and in honor of the day each contestant was made the recipient of a small award which gladdened the hearts of even the "losers."

As will be noted elsewhere in this issue, Irma won the senior ball event, while the prize for intermediate ball went to Freddie. The "boys" in the softball tournament went to the team from Rosyth, and the money in the horseshoe tourney was paid out to teams skippered by Messrs. Messier and Williams.

The afternoon turning out to be fine and HOT (yes! with capital letters!) the ladies of the Anglican church sure did a roaring business at the big refreshment booth—indeed they were sold right out before evening, and the "bingo" stand was the scene of merriment and prize-winning from start to finish.

From early morn till the closing of the gates at eventide, the boys of the Town Band sure "did their bit" to enliven the whole proceedings, and known until it is too late as far as the poor victim is concerned. This is a thing we have to protect ourselves and our children against, and that is why I personally believe that it is essential to have these various parties and demonstrations in order to keep alive that true spirit of patriotism, co-operation and unity which has stood us so good stead in the past and we can confidently expect, in view of this past experience, spreading over a period of "hundreds of years, that it will not fail us in the future."

GLORIOUS FIRST

Since the last time we celebrated Dominion Day together a sad thing has happened. We have lost our beloved monarch King George V. This event not only shocked the Empire and the Dominion of Canada—but the whole universe. The town sent a message of sympathy to the royal Family and today we can not celebrate with the same joy as would have been possible had his shadow not cast itself upon us. Yet, ladies and gentlemen, even this did not tend to bring about the dissolution of the Empire, but to cement it closer together. In fact, we had not realized how potent that centre of unity was the monarchy. People did not realize what a factor it was in the life of the Dominions. Through out the Dominion of Canada the loss was universally felt. It was hard, nay, well might impossible to realize that such a thing had happened. The King Was Dead! Whether or not we had ever given him a thought before did not matter—but it was only at his death that we realized just how much the king meant to the unity of the Empire and the Dominions. Tokens of sympathy were sent to London from all of the Dominions, and the Dominion of Canada was not lacking in this regard.

As I mentioned, the grief over the death of the King was universal. Perhaps I should have said—almost universal—for there was one discordant note—that of the communists again. Running true to form, and being against lawfully constituted authority, or authority of any kind except their own, they voted against the message of sympathy sent to the Royal Family.

Today the Dominion bows allegiance to a new Sovereign—King Edward VIII, the son and successor of King George. The Dominion in the past has been loyal to the throne. She proved this at the death of the King. She will still be loyal, for a matter of pennance does not mean much. It is under the present system that the Dominion of Canada has made great strides, and there fore I can safely say that we will be just as loyal this year as we have been in the past, loyal to the throne, whether the occupant be named either George or Edward, this does not matter, for once again, the monarchy is the symbol of unity and stability.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, in conclusion, we may have had bad times. The result of the crop last fall was far from cheerful. It is quite possible that we will have hard times in the future, but in view of the past, and taking everything into consideration, we can still face the future with confidence, and after all, on looking around and observing the conditions existing in many of the other nations of the world, even yet we can say in all truth, that we can still be proud that we are citizens of the Dominion of Canada and are living under the British flag—not the red flag, the banner of those insidious, diabolical and cunning forces which I spoke a little while ago.

From early morn till the closing of the gates at eventide, the boys of the Town Band sure "did their bit" to enliven the whole proceedings, and

In addition to providing the parade floats, and accompanying the parade, they tooted sweetly at intervals under the baton of Jack Akeman throughout the long hours.

To round out the day in full measure, the theatre showed Curwood's splendid story of "The Country Beyond", to truly packed houses, and at the close of the screening literally hundreds danced till sun-up next morn to the teasing strains of the town orchestra.

Altogether, it was a truly glorious "First", and one of which the several committees in charge may well feel justly proud of having "put over" in such great shape. Those responsible for the affairs of the day, and who worked so hard to attain the successful day were: Mayor Dr. McKinnam, general chairman; Mr. J. W. Stuart, baseball; Dr. E. V. Springbett, softball; Mr. W. Crowe, grounds; Mr. Chas. Horn, parade; Mr. W. Huntingford, music and entertainment; with Mr. C. W. McBride, secretary-treasurer.

During the serving of luncheon, a fine new automobile was delivered to the bride and groom, a wedding gift from Mr. Carrington's parents.

Later in the evening a reception and dance was held in Caron's hall, which was largely attended by many friends throughout the south county. Following the reception the happy couple left in their new car for a two week's honeymoon to be spent in Banff. The bride's travelling costume was a blue tailored suit with accessories to match. Following their return they will make their home on the groom's farm in the Irma district.

Re-decorating is being carried out on the interior of the White Cloud schoolhouse.

Mr. Garth Mills, of Vancouver, who is a native son of Wainwright, has returned to his native hearth to fill a position at the Washburn hard ware store.

Mr. Chas. Horn has rented the W. Clark cottage at Clear Lake where he is enjoying his holidays with his wife and kiddies.

Miss Kathleen Challenger spent the holiday in Edmonton.

The two vicarines on the teaching staff have been filled for the following term. Miss Hena will be in charge of the primary room and Mr. Mulholland the intermediate.

Helen Pen is visiting in Wainwright.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dick left Monday to visit friends and relatives in Galtland.

Rev. J. Caldwell and son left Thursday for their new home in Manville. The best wishes of the community go with Mr. Caldwell as he goes to his new field.

Rev. J. Stutill will be the new United Church minister in Edgerton. He will be inducted Friday evening, July 10th, by Rev. Armstrong of Wainwright and Rev. Kemp of Irma.

HOPE VALLEY

The Maple Leaf Club met for their annual picnic at Mott Lake on June 28th. In spite of a shower of rain those present enjoyed a good get together, and over fifty sat down at the long table in the pavilion to a great spread prepared by the ladies of the club.

Neither was the Sports Club picnic on Friday last marred by the rain that came in the afternoon. After each of the two showers, the young people went after the sports with more vim than before.

Hope Valley and Vaneet played the first games of baseball, Gilt Edge and Aspen staged the second game. The third of the series was between Aspen and Hope Valley. Aspen carrying off first money, winning the game by a good margin. There were three good games of softball.

The evening Gilt Edge girls and the Sligo Saddle Hill teams were the first contestants, the latter being the winners. Later an exhibition game was played between Gilt Edge girls and a pick-up team of girls from Vaneet and Hope Valley. The former won the game.

In the evening Gilt Edge pupils and the Sligo Saddle Hill teams played off for first place. It was a great game. One of the most exciting in a long time, said many of the spectators. Finally the visiting team broke the tie and carried away the laurels.

Miss Anne Trefiak is attending the summer training school for teachers.

SMITH-BOWEN NUPTIALS

ARE CELEBRATED

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage on Thursday afternoon last, when the pastor, Rev. T. E. Armstrong, E.D., united Miss Margaret Bowen, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. T. Bowen, of Edmonton, and Mr. Jas. A. Smith, of Paradise Valley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, of Kansas City.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Russel Bowen, of Amisk. She wore a gown of grey triple crepe with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of tallies and carnations.

Miss M. Elliott, of Vermilion, attended the bride, being gowned in maroon blue trimmed with white, and bore a sheaf of pink carnations. Mr. J. C. Welsh of Edgerton supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a dainty lunch was served at the parsonage. Miss Mary McBride and Miss Willetta Armstrong assisting. Mrs. J. McMaster, of Edmonton, master of the bride, poured tea; the bride's table being centred with the hand some three-tiered wedding cake banked with floral decorations. A large circle of friends of both the contracting parties were witnesses of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Edmonton, the bride being dressed in a blue ensemble, and carrying a grey purse, the gift of the groom. The happy couple plan to be at home at Paradise Valley about September 1st, when Mr. Smith will take up his duties as school principal there.

In Edmonton this month. We are pleased to report that Miss Trefiak is expected to resume her duties at Gilt Edge school after the holiday.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boyer.

GREENSHIELDS

Mrs. J. Sylvester left on Thursday to visit her son at St. Walburg.

Mrs. Elmer Jackson entrained for Vancouver Sunday morning.

Dr. Wallace was at the school Friday, inducting the children of the district.

Miss Hettie Kennedy left for her home at Edmonton June 2nd. While in the city she will attend summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke Ott and son Billy left for their annual vacation to be spent at Erskine and Calgary.

Owing to the inclement weather of last Tuesday it was necessary to postpone the school picnic. House Lake held theirs on Saturday.

Mr. Douglas Morison and Miss Beattie Smith were married at the bride's home on Saturday.

PASSCHENDALE

The Sew and So Club spent an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Nordstrom on Thursday, June 25th. An interesting paper on "Window Shopping in Wainwright in 1960" was given by Mrs. Jean Williamson. Mrs. M. Crawford gave an interesting paper on "Soviet Russia of Today." A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Nordstrom.

The Jubilee Club held a meeting Thursday evening and decided about their camping trip this summer to Birch Lake.

A number of Passchendales folks attended the wedding given by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carrington at Autumn Leaf Hall on Friday, June 26th. A very large crowd was present to enjoy the dance. After a huge supper the bride and bridesmaid, Mrs. Earl Carrington and Miss Marion Carrington, passed chocolate to the ladies and the groom and best man Mr. Earl Carrington and Mr. Kenneth Kennedy passed cigars to the gentlemen. At the close of the dance everyone sang, "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

The music was by Messrs. Fred Brimacombe, Alphonse Kent, Camil Caron and Harry Amos.

AUBURNDALE

The Caron hall had one of the largest crowds it ever held on Friday evening, June 26th, at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carrington (nee Hilda Kennedy). The hall was lit up by electricity, supplied by Mr. J. Klusson, of Vermilion who made use of the occasion to demonstrate his neat little electric lighting plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carrington wish to express in this column their thanks to many friends for the many beautiful wedding presents which they received and the good wishes extended to them by all.

The new Brockville school is now completed and painted and ready for the pupils. The school is an exact replica of the school that burned down last January after it has been erected for only a year. We wish this school and the pupils and teachers who attend the best of luck.

The recent good rains we have had in this district will bring the crops and gardens along. There is promise at present of plenty of wild fruits here this year and we hope nothing happens to mar them.

Miss Muriel Wittmann was a week end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Helmerington.

Miss Leone Roach spent the week end with her high school companion, Miss Bernice Fraser at the latter's home.

Messrs. Harry Symes, Garth Heth, erington, Vernie Arthurs and Fred Brimacombe were Sunday evening visitors at the Fraser home last week.

Miss Betty Kennedy was the guest of Mrs. Ellen Wilson for the last two months has returned to her home in Los Angeles, California.

The Heatherbell annual picnic was held on Tuesday June 30th. The attendance was rather small owing to the wet and blustery weather, which cleared up somewhat in the afternoon.

The Community Club will hold a picnic on Richardson's picnic grounds, one half mile south of the Autumn Leaf school house, on Wednesday, July 22nd. Everybody welcome. This will be a good picnic if the weather permits, so make a day of it, everybody.

The Autumn Leaf S.C. Group will hold a picnic, probably on the same grounds as the Community Club picnic. The date will be announced later.

Mr. Anderson, our minister, and Mr. J. Irvine motored together to Wainwright to take in the big day there on July 1st.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

"REMINISCERS OF OTHER DAYS"

30 YEARS AGO

A tragedy was narrowly averted last week at Ribstone Lake, when the three small children of Mr. Guy Taft who were playing in a boat on the edge of the lake some how managed to put it afloat. The strong wind which was blowing carried them right across to the other side. However, they landed safely on Newport's Marsh and walked four miles to their home.

The Duke of Devonshire has been appointed the new Governor General for Canada, according to a dispatch received this week.

Mr. T. H. Simmons a well known farmer of the Greenshields district died on Wednesday from heart trouble at the age of 69 years.

This week sees the institution of Adeline Rebekah Lodge No. 54, I.O.O.F., in Wainwright. With a large number of candidates on the list, and the ceremony ably conducted by Mrs. M. B. McIntyre, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta.

Mrs. E. Clark was elected to fill the chair of Noble Grand for the ensuing term, with a full list of officers.

According to reports received the grain in the district has already begun to head out nicely with prospects of a splendid yield.

Mr. Chas. H. Horn, who has been reported missing for the past several weeks, has now been located as a prisoner of war in Belgium, according to word received in town.

The new Canada War Loan is to be offered for sale sometime around the first of September. Although the exact amount is not known, it is expected to be $100,000,000.

There has been a marked change in the character of the news from the various battalion fronts in Europe. To all appearances, the British army has at last been fully supplied with munitions for the prolonged push into the enemies lines, and with the aid of the Allies a successful drive is anticipated. The cost of men will likely be appalling but such is the price which must be paid for liberty.

We have never before seen so many beautiful songbirds as we have around our place this year. Still we have more cats this year than in previous years. We notice that there are not so many crows this year, and have only noticed about a half dozen around our place. Moles are doing damage in the garden.

Mr. P. Richardson attended the B.E.S.L. meeting in Wainwright on Friday evening, July 3rd.

This Week in Washington

With the nominating conventions of the major parties over and the work of the 74th Congress finished, Washington is settling down to the serious business of Presidential politics. Those who are trying to drop out what will happen next November find, on surveying the political scene, a considerable amount of wreckage and a number of new factors, the importance and effect of which cannot at this time be accurately estimated.

The session of Congress ended with a victory for the President in the new tax bill. The Senate had rejected the principle he advocated of taxing undistributed corporate reserves, but administration pressure on the lower House resulted in a three-sided deadlock in the face of which the Senate yielded. An entirely new principle of taxation has been placed on the statute books and business is disturbed over its possible consequences. One certain thing about the new tax law at this time is that it makes it more difficult for corporations to conserve their resources against future depression.

Just before it quit, Congress gave the President another billion and a half dollars for relief. This will carry on relief work on the present scale until about February, when one of the first jobs of the new Congress, which will convene on January 3, will be to do something quick about Federal relief.

Some Measures Perished

Many legislative measures, which important pressure groups regarded as of vital importance, died in the last-minute rush to adjourn. It must be remembered, however, that while bills die, the pressure blocs still live, and their efforts will be renewed in the next Congress. The substitute Guffey coal bill, the Administration's food and drug bill, and Senator Wagner's Federal housing bill were among the casualties. The anti-price discrimination law aimed at chain stores, as finally enacted, is not regarded as likely to have any serious effect except that it puts added powers into the hands of the Federal Trade Commission to regulate business.

The ship subsidy bill, passed in the closing hours, is designed to build up the American merchant marine by direct subsidies instead of subterfuge payments for carrying mail. Under this act it may be possible for America at last to put a ship or two on the seas which will rival the great European liners.

One really important bill which fell short of enactment was the measure designed to put all postmasters under Civil Service regulations. It was fought by Republicans on the ground that it would keep thousands of politically appointed Democratic postmasters in office for life, and labor opposition gave many Democrats an excuse for voting against it.

Third Party Threat

Political experts are not yet in agreement as to the effect on the election of the formation of the new Union Party, headed by Representative William Lemke of North Dakota as its presidential candidate and Thomas C. O'Brien of Boston for vice-president. There is a strong feeling that this new third-party movement is to be taken seriously. It has the support of Father Coughlin, the Detroit "Radio Priest," and of Dr. E. F. Townsend, founder of the old-age revolving pension plan. Mr. Lemke has been the leader of the agrarian inflation-bloc in Congress, and is the co-sponsor of the Brainerd-Lemke farm mortgage bill.

The best judgment at the moment seems to be that his new party, as the states where it is still able to get officially on the ballot, most of whom would otherwise be expected to vote the Democratic ticket. That it will also draw many votes in some of the normally Republican states of the northwest cannot be denied. Political analysts are busy with their scratch pads trying to figure it out.

Likewise nobody can determine yet what the ultimate effect on the election will be of the walk-out headed by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith. Mr. Smith, with Baldwin-Coleby, former Senator James A. Reed, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, and Daniel R. Cohalan, one of the most powerful figures in Tammany Hall, signed a communication to the Democratic National Convention denouncing Mr. Roosevelt as not being a true Democrat. While some action was not unexpected on the part of the Conservative Democrats of the old school will follow this leadership.

Campaign Outlook

The promise of the Republican leaders to conduct a swift-moving, aggressive campaign is being borne out. John Hamilton, the new Republican national chairman, is actively taking the field and expects to live mostly in airplanes for the next four months. Col. Knox, vice-presidential candidate, will make more speeches than will Gov. Landon. Mr. Landon, however, after a short vacation, plans also to "take the stump" and speak at several strategically selected times and places.

Again, as in 1932, Mr. Roosevelt will himself be the principal speaker for the Democratic ticket. Vice-President Garner is not expected to be heard from. Postmaster General Farley, Democratic national chairman, expresses complete confidence in the practically unanimous re-election of Mr. Roosevelt.

ALUMNI REUNION

A great many ex-students of the Vermont School of Agriculture are planning on attending the reunion which will be held July 16th, 17th and 18th. Students will arrive for the opening dance on the evening of July 16th. This dance is strictly confined to students, ex-students and their immediate friends and relations. Notices are going out through the mail this week and it is expected that 250 students will return to the old V.S.A. for the reunion.

GRANT FLEMING, M.D., ASSOCIATE SECRETARY

MOTURING HINTS

At this time of year many of us are taking long motor trips and may journey far from beaten paths. A few health hints may be appropriate. Carry a first aid kit in your car. One never knows when it will be needed to save a life—perhaps your own. This should contain at least a recognized disinfectant for wounds, sterile gauze, cotton bandages, adhesive and a twist of heavy cord for applying improvised splints.

Keep dark glasses in the car. They will save much eye fatigue, a splitting headache and perhaps a spoiled day.

In long drives, rest ten minutes every hour. Change drivers every hour if more than one car drive. Be eternally vigilant against insidious drowsiness.

Maintain good ventilation despite dust or rain. Unsupervised carbon monoxide poisoning has caused many fatalities. Because of the outward direction of so-called "no draught ventilation," other windows should be open to minimize the drawing in of monoxide charged air from below. Carry thermos or other containers with your water supply for occasional meals. This is safer than dipping the water from wayside streams no matter how sparkling they appear.

Unless quite sure of your drinking water, it should be boiled before use or sterilized with the chlorine drop bottles now available from departments of health.

Outside of large centres—and not always there either—it is uncommon as yet to find milk pasteurized. Ask if the cows are tuberculin tested. Moreover to minimize the danger of acute dysentery (cholera infantum) the milk should not be given to small children unless it is absolutely fresh, or has been brought almost to the boiling point.

Unless you know the source of the ice, do not put it directly into liquid refreshments.

In addition to the first aid kit, carry a few handy medicines along: soda-mint tablets, your favorite laxatives; acetyl-salicylic acid tablets for headache; 10% neo-alcohol or glycol for inflamed eyes or a cold in the head; an eye dropper, rubbing alcohol, sunburn applications, spray and solution for warding off mosquitoes.

If sickness comes on when travelling it is but natural to endeavour to "push on" for home or familiar destination. Sometimes this may mean dangerous delay and it is much safer to consult a local doctor, even though a stranger, than to waste precious hours. The local public hospital could submit a list of competent doctors for your choice.

HINTS GALORE!

When a boot or shoe pinches, wring a cloth out in very hot water, and place it over the place while the boot is on the foot. This expands the leather and will give relief.

A stovepipe can be cut with the help of a can-opener exactly as you would cut a can.

A little sugar added to the water in which green vegetables are boiled will improve their colour without destroying the vitamins, as so many water softeners do. Sugar also improves the flavour of boiled carrots, turnips, etc. Should soup be accidentally over-salted, a little sugar stirred into it will counteract the too-salty flavour.

SLAT'S DIARY

Sunday: After reading the funny papers this a.m. I read to Pa in the 2 presbydenals to elect as I notice Farley & Hamilton is both sure to elect I. & Pa repulse and not don't believe all you see in the papers except what I like.

Monday: We drove out in the forenoon 8:30 a.m. and Ma sarcastically said the Ford Otto be called Regular. Pa bit and sat why and Ma and hecos the other cars all go by it.

Tuesday: A man cum into the editor's office where Pa works at and was that a criminal lawyer in are city. The editor scratched his head & that a minute and repulse and we think they in but we can't quite prove it for certain, just yet.

Wednesday: Blisters sisters sweet heart ad to Blisters Well brother yore sister and me is a going to be married. Isent that news. Old stuff repulse Blisters. Sis told me you was her most the last time you was here. & Blisters ad his sister up and got mad. I reckon she don't like her sweet heart.

Thursday: I was recien in the dickensary and ad Auk Hen to see if he is as smart as he claims to be what is a paradox. He repulse a couple of doctors. His idea is what I would term groce ignorants.

Friday: They are some small pox in the negro section of are city & Ant Laxy who works at are house run times had to be vaccinated. Ise Dr. and hede harto vaccinate her in the laboratory and Laxy ad no she wanted it in the arm.

Saturday: Took Jane to the pitcher show and kist her in the dark. Se ad I didn't have no bizness to do it and I sed it wasn't bizness at all. It was a pleasure I sed.

BRUCE BARTON

Where We Owe Much

I read somewhere that a heroic statue was recently unveiled to Hippocrates in Athens. It is a fitting tribute, for there are few men in human history whose influence has lasted so long or is so sure to continue into the future. He was a philosopher as well as a physician. One of the most famous aphorisms in our language came from him, though few recognize it. Said he: "Life is short, and the Art is long; the occasion fleeting; experience fallacious and judgment difficult. The physician must not only be prepared to do what is right himself, but also to make the patient, the attendants, and the externals cooperate."

His enduring faith, however, rests upon the Hippocratic Oath. "I swear by Apollo the physician, and Aesculapius . . . I will keep this oath . . . I will follow that system of regimen which . . . I consider of benefit to my patients, and abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous . . . I will give no deadly medicine to anyone, if asked. With purity and with holiness I will pass my life and practice my art. . . . I will whatever houses I enter, I will go into them for the benefit of the sick, and will abstain from every voluntary act of mischief and corruption . . . Whatever I see or hear, in connection with my professional practice, or not in connection with it . . . which ought not to be spoken of abroad, I will not divulge . . . I will not divulge."

The oath closes with a prayer that, so long as it is strictly observed, the physician may be blessed of gods and respected of men, but that neither respect nor blessing shall dwell with him who violates it. What an achievement it is for a man to have set up a standard which has guided the thinking and practice of a whole profession for twenty-three centuries! It is a high standard, and to the eternal credit of physicians, a great majority of them make an honest effort to live up to it.

And Another Class Graduates

I went to a boys' school to see a class of fourteen-year-olds receive their first diplomas. It is a school that believes you can get more results with praise than by punishment, and so it holds up many cups and medals for achievement and for awards of commendation day. There is a cup for the boy who has exemplified the highest qualities of "good citizenship," meaning leadership, a sense of responsibility, and care for the welfare of the weaker and younger. A fine, straight-backed lad, with serious gray eyes, was the winner.

There is a medal for the boy who has shown the most development in self-control. As the head-mistress pinned the medal on the coat lapel of a lively lad, she said: "Joe, this year you have found yourself. From now on you will make us proud."

There were a number of awards for scholarship and athletic ability, and one for the boy "who has done most for the school." To this recipient the head-mistress said: "You have set your feet on the high road. Always choose the right road and the high road."

There may be some people so tough that they can witness such a ceremony without a throb in their throats. Thank God, I am not among them. My eyes were wet.

I was thinking not of this group alone, but of all the youngsters who were going through similar exercises in school-rooms all over the world. Of the little French boys who were being admonished to "tell the truth." Of the little English boys to whom it was being said: "I've honestly, live cleanly, think of others." Of the little German and Japanese boys hearing: "Take always the right road and the high road." So much idealism, so much hope, so much eager determination to do right.

Merciful God, I thought, must all this end in war?

A HOUSING PROBLEM SOLVED . . . Before Imperial Oil interests developed the oil fields of Peru there were homes there such as that on the left. Foremost in the development, which involved expenditures of great sums of money put up by thousands of investors, was a program to house the native workers. Its result was that rows of neat dwellings like those above sprang up on the desert near the oil fields.

SUCCESSFUL PICNIC AT GRANGEDALE

On Tuesday June 30th, the people of the Grangedale school district gathered at the school for their annual school picnic. Although the weather looked threatening, no rain came. The early afternoon was spent enjoying a game of softball and in contests of various kinds. The school board had arranged prizes which were awarded for the contests as follows:

First Sack Race—Glynn Jones, 1st; Fred Ford, 2nd.
 Second Sack Race—Stanley Chynoweth, 1st; Glynn Jones, 2nd.
 Thread & Needle Race—Edith Watson and Wilson Forest, 1st; Elsie Ford and Stanley Chynoweth, 2nd.
 Potato Race (Girls)—Elsie Ford, 1st; Olive Ford and Ruth Jones (tie), 2nd.
 Boys—Martin Hedlund, 1st; Fred Ford, 2nd.
 First Egg Race—Olive Ford, 1st; Helen Chynoweth, 2nd.
